Overall summary

About the service

Rectory Court is a residential care home providing personal care to 28 people aged 65 and over at the time of the inspection. The service can support up to 41 people. The service is situated in a purpose-built large building with large communal areas, bedrooms and bathrooms located across three floors.

We found the following examples of good practice

The provider followed best practice guidance to ensure visitors to the home did not introduce and spread Covid19. Information and instructions for visitors were clearly displayed and explained in person by the receptionist. Staff were adhering to personal protective and equipment (PPE) and social distancing guidance.

People were supported to see their visitors in the garden, or when this was not possible people were supported to speak to their families on the phone or via video call. The provider developed newsletters, detailing events within the home to people's families.

The provider had an infection prevention and control policy that outlined the requirement for isolation rooms for people infected with Covid19 or for people admitted to the home from the hospital or the community.

The provider had ensured staff who were more vulnerable to Covid-19 had a risk assessment in place, and where it was not safe for staff to be at work, they had a furlough scheme in place to protect staff and people.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to the coronavirus pandemic we are looking at the preparedness of care homes in relation to infection prevention and control. This was a targeted inspection looking at the infection control and prevention measures the provider has in place.

This inspection took place on 29 January 2021 and was announced.
