Summary of findings

Overall summary

Park House is a residential care home providing personal care for up to 28 people. At the time of our inspection there were 19 people living at the home.

We found the following examples of good practice.

When people were Covid-19 positive the service was able to cohort them on a different floor with their own staff whilst they were isolating.

One person who used the service, lacked capacity to consent to the test and was fearful of it. Their next of kin consented to them having the test and staff worked with them to give them reassurance and encouragement to have the test.

Further information is in the detailed findings below.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to care homes with outbreaks of coronavirus, we are conducting reviews to ensure that the Infection Prevention and Control practice was safe and the service was compliant with IPC measures. This was a targeted inspection looking at the IPC practices the provider has in place.

This inspection took place on 24 November 2020 and was announced.
