Summary of findings

Overall summary

Ebenezer Residential Care Home is a residential care home providing accommodation and care for up to five people with learning disabilities and autism. At the time of our inspection five people were living in the home.

We found the following examples of good practice.

The premises were clean and well maintained. Hand sanitiser and personal protective equipment (PPE) were available at the entrance of the home. Visitors were sent information prior to visiting the service about visiting the home safely. Visitors had their temperature taken and recorded, and people were supported to follow the government's guidance on wearing PPE and social distancing.

The provider had appropriate arrangements to test people and staff for COVID-19. This ensured that people, visitors and staff were tested for COVID-19 in a consistent way in line with national guidance.

The provider ensured that staff received appropriate training and support to help prevent the spread of infection. All staff had received regular training on infection control and the use of PPE.

The provider ensured that people using the service could maintain links with family members and friends. Family members and friends could stay in touch with people with phone and video messaging. Family and friends could visit people at the service.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to the COVID-19 pandemic we are looking at how services manage infection control and visiting arrangements. This was a targeted inspection looking at the infection prevention and control measures the provider had in place. We also asked the provider about any staffing pressures the service was experiencing and whether this was having an impact on the service.

This inspection took place on 14 January 2022 and was announced. We gave the service 24 hours notice of the inspection.
