Summary of findings

Overall summary

The Elms Care Home is a residential care home which can provide personal and nursing care for up to 86 older people, some of who may live with dementia or physical illness. At the time of the inspection 71 people were living in the home.

We found the following examples of good practice.

- A recent outbreak of COVID- 19 at the service had been managed well and the plans in place to support people had been utilised safely. There was clear zoning at the service and robust measures in place to reduce staff movement from unit to unit. Staff who tested positive or had displayed symptoms of COVID- 19 had shielded in line with the government guidance and were symptom free before returning to work.
- Information and guidance on COVID- 19 restrictions and infection control measures in place was available and visible for staff, people and visitors. Visitors were required to complete a questionnaire, have their temperature taken and wear Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) before entering the service, following the provider's infection prevention and control procedures.
- Staff received training about good practice for infection prevention and control. This included up to date training on infection control and how to safely put on and remove PPE. This was followed up with regular observation of practice.
- The service had sufficient stocks of PPE and were supported by the provider to maintain these stocks. This included masks, gloves, aprons and visors. There were also sufficient stocks of hand sanitiser and cleaning materials.
- People who lived at the service and staff underwent regular COVID- 19 testing in line with government guidance. This ensured anyone who had contracted COVID- 19 could be identified in a timely way.
- Housekeeping staff maintained enhanced cleaning schedules and the environment was kept clean and hygienic.
- People admitted to the service were supported in line with government guidance on managing new admissions during the COVID- 19 pandemic.
- People were supported to keep in touch with their relatives and friends through telephone calls, video calls, and garden or window visits. The provider was in the process of building a visiting pod to reduce the risk of spreading COVID- 19 and enable people to receive their visitors in a comfortable and safe way during the winter months.
- Since the outbreak the provider had maintained a no visiting policy with an exception for people who were nearing the end of their life. These visits were carefully managed with adherence to infection prevention and control guidance, including the use of PPE. The provider kept their visiting policy under review to ensure they supported people to keep safe.

The Elms Care Home

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to care homes with outbreaks of coronavirus, we are conducting reviews to ensure that the Infection Prevention and Control practice was safe and the service was compliant with IPC measures. This was a targeted inspection looking at the IPC practices the provider has in place.

This inspection took place on 8 December 2020 and was announced.
