Summary of findings

Overall summary

St Thomas Complex provides accommodation for up to 52 people who require support with personal care, some of whom are living with dementia. Thirty two people were using the service at the time of the inspection.

We found the following examples of good practice:

- Appropriate measures were in place at the entrance and inside the home to prevent visitors from spreading infection. All visitors were required to wear appropriate personal protective equipment (PPE) and follow good hand hygiene practices.
- Staff had undertaken additional training in infection prevention and control. There was clear guidance and signage in place throughout the home on the correct use of PPE and handwashing techniques. Regular infection control audits were carried out.
- Additional cleaning was taking place including frequently touched surfaces. Some changes had been made to the layout of furniture to ensure social distancing.
- Family members had been able to visit their relatives safely. However, local visiting restrictions were in place at the time of the inspection. People were supported to keep in touch with their family members via video or telephone calls. Communication records were kept for all contact people had with their family members.
- The registered manager ensured staff were fully supported to maintain their wellbeing.

Further information is in the detailed findings below.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to the coronavirus pandemic we are conducting a thematic review of infection control and prevention measures in care homes.

The service was selected to take part in this thematic review which is seeking to identify examples of good practice in infection prevention and control.

This inspection took place on 12 November 2020 and was announced.
