Summary of findings

Overall summary

Mount St Joseph is a care home providing personal and nursing care for 42 people. The service can support up to 46 people.

We found the following examples of good practice.

The home had policies and procedures to manage any risks associated with the COVID-19 pandemic. This included the management of risks for people who had tested positive for COVID-19.

The provider had reorganised how regular activities were developed, making use of audio visual resources, to ensure people continued to enjoy activities in a safe way and in line with current guidance.

The environment had been adapted to comply with guidance and ensure people and relatives were able to continue interacting safely.

The provider had implemented a regular programme of COVID-19 testing for people in the home, staff, and visitors. All visitors, including professionals, were subject to a range of screening procedures, including showing evidence of vaccination and a negative lateral flow test before entry into the home was allowed.

Staff had received updated training on the use of PPE, and we observed staff wearing it correctly during our inspection. Clear signage and information was in place throughout the home to remind staff of their responsibilities.

The service had established good working relationships with relevant healthcare professionals and their support continued during the pandemic.

Workforce pressures were not having a detrimental impact on the delivery of the service.

The five questions we ask about services and what we found

We always ask the following five questions of services.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to the COVID-19 pandemic we are looking at how services manage infection control and visiting arrangements. This was a targeted inspection looking at the infection prevention and control measures the provider had in place. We also asked the provider about any staffing pressures the service was experiencing and whether this was having an impact on the service.

This inspection took place on 12 January 2022 and was announced. We gave the service 24 hours notice of the inspection.
