Summary of findings

Overall summary

Fairfax Road is a care home registered to provide accommodation and personal care for up to four people who have learning disabilities. People in care homes receive accommodation and personal care as a single package under one contractual agreement. The Care Quality Commission (CQC) regulates both the premises and the care provided, and both were looked at during this inspection. There were three people using the service at the time of the inspection.

We found the following examples of good practice.

The home had prominent and clear infection prevention control (IPC) signs with helpful information and best practice guidance.

The home was clean. We saw evidence of cleaning records to support the cleaning process around the home.

Staff were seen to be correctly wearing personal protective equipment (PPE).

The home was accessing regular testing for both staff and residents.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to care homes with outbreaks of COVID-19, we are conducting reviews to ensure that the Infection Prevention and Control (IPC) practice is safe and that services are compliant with IPC measures. This was a targeted inspection triggered by an outbreak of COVID-19 to look at the IPC practices the provider has in place. We also asked the provider about any staffing pressures the service was experiencing and whether this was having an impact on the service.

This inspection took place on 13 January 2022 and was announced. We gave the service one day notice of the inspection.
