Summary of findings

Overall summary

Fairfax Road is a care home providing personal care to two people at the time of the inspection. The service can support up to four people.

We found the following examples of good practice.

Hand washing facilities, personal protective equipment (PPE) and signage on infection control procedures were available near the entrance and throughout the care home.

Peoples rooms and communal areas were visibly clean and hygienic.

Staff had completed training to develop their knowledge on safe COVID-19 practices.

The provider had appropriate arrangements to test people and staff for COVID- 19 and was following government guidance on testing. This ensured people and staff were tested for COVID- 19 in a consistent way in line with national guidance.

Staff ensured people using the service could maintain links with family members and friends.

Appropriate risk assessments were carried out to assess the impact of COVID- 19 on people and staff.

Further information is in the detailed findings below.

We have also signposted the provider to resources to develop their approach.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to the coronavirus pandemic we are conducting a thematic review of infection control and prevention measures in care homes.

The service was selected to take part in this thematic review which is seeking to identify examples of good practice in infection prevention and control.

This inspection took place on 26 November 2020 and was announced.
