Summary of findings

Overall summary

Roseway House accommodates up to 49 people with residential and nursing care needs in a purpose-built building. On the day of our inspection, 30 people were using the service.

We found the following examples of good practice:

- Appropriate measures were in place at the entrance and inside the home to prevent visitors from spreading infection. All visitors were required to wear appropriate personal protective equipment (PPE) and follow good hand hygiene practices.
- There were sufficient stocks of PPE. There was clear signage on the correct use of PPE and handwashing techniques. Staff had received appropriate training in infection prevention and control.
- The environment was very clean, with enhanced cleaning taking place of frequently touched surfaces.
- The provider was following national guidance for anyone moving into the home and admissions were carried out safely.
- People were supported to keep in touch with their family members via video or telephone calls. The provider had developed ways to safely support visits in line with the latest guidance.
- Social distancing rules were being complied with. Some minor changes had been made to the layout of furniture to encourage and support social distancing.
- Staffing levels had been maintained during the recent outbreak with the support of agency staff.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to care homes with outbreaks of coronavirus, we are conducting reviews to ensure that the Infection Prevention and Control practice was safe and the service was compliant with IPC measures. This was a targeted inspection looking at the IPC practices the provider has in place.

This inspection took place on 5 February 2021 and was announced.
