Summary of findings

Overall summary

Millers Grange is a care home registered to provide accommodation, personal and nursing care for up to 52 older people. There were 29 people living at the service at the time of the inspection.

We found the following examples of good practice.

The provider had sufficient stock of appropriate personal protective equipment (PPE) which complied with the quality standards.

Staff participated in various training sessions around infection control and using PPE. Staff's competency around infection control and PPE was checked regularly to prevent staff complacency. This included the registered manager's daily walk around checks as well as supervisions. There were designated areas for donning and doffing PPE. There was signage all around the service on donning and doffing PPE and handwashing. We observed staff putting on and taking off PPE as per guidelines.

A visiting pod had been created to safely facilitate relatives' visits on a pre-booking basis. A limited number of visitors was encouraged with consideration given to allow time for disinfecting the area in between visits. All visitors had their temperature taken using thermal imaging camera and completed a lateral flow test (LFT) for COVID-19.

On arrival to the service, infection control procedures were explained to visitors and a declaration form needed to be completed which included the temperatures taken at the time. We saw visitors were provided and required to wear the appropriate PPE in line with government guidelines.

The provider had robust systems to ensure safe admissions, including only allowing new admissions after a confirmed negative result of the Covid-19 test. The provider had also assessed the environment, with consideration given where to allocate people should they need to isolate.

An additional cleaning schedule had been introduced to ensure robust measures to reduce infection risks, including additional tasks such as cleaning of any regular touchpoint surfaces.

The provider participated in the Covid-19 regular testing programme for both people and staff.

Impact assessments to ensure appropriate support for staff had been carried out, these included individual health conditions and personal circumstances. Staff had access to dedicated counselling and advice if they been affected directly or indirectly by Covid-19.

Additional, regular communication took place. This included a weekly update for people and their relatives to share the current 'Covid-19 status' of the service and any changes to the visiting policy.
