Summary of findings

Overall summary

Bradbury Home is a care home registered to provide accommodation and personal care for up to 36 older people some of whom maybe living with dementia. At the time of our inspection nineteen people were using the service.

We found the following examples of good practice.

- The registered manager was following the government's guidance on whole home testing for people and staff. This included using rapid testing and weekly testing for staff.
- Staff had received training on working during the pandemic in relation to COVID-19 and had received training in the correct use of personal protective equipment (PPE).
- New admissions were assessed prior to admission and tested for COVID-19. People were then supported with a period of isolation.
- Staff completed regular health screening on people to help identify any symptoms early.
- People were supported to isolate when required and the environment had been set up to encourage social distancing when people were able to meet in communal areas.
- People's well-being was supported by video and telephone calls to relatives and when safe to do so visiting procedures were in place for people to see their relatives.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to care homes with outbreaks of coronavirus, we are conducting reviews to ensure that the Infection Prevention and Control practice was safe, and the service was compliant with IPC measures. This was a targeted inspection looking at the IPC practices the provider has in place.

This inspection took place on 26 January 2021 and was unannounced.
