Summary of findings

Overall summary

Regency Court is a residential care home providing accommodation and personal care for up to 22 people. At the time of the inspection 15 people were using the service.

We found the following examples of good practice.

The premises looked clean and staff were observed cleaning touchpoints. Hand sanitisers and PPE stations were situated throughout the building.

Staff were observed wearing appropriate PPE.

One member of staff used public transport and they were getting to and from work via taxi; this was paid for by the provider.

Further information is in the detailed findings below.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to care homes with outbreaks of coronavirus, we are conducting reviews to ensure that the Infection Prevention and Control practice was safe and the service was compliant with IPC measures. This was a targeted inspection looking at the IPC practices the provider has in place.

This inspection took place on 11 November 2020 and was announced.

Is the service safe?

Our findings

How well are people protected by the prevention and control of infection?

- We were assured that the provider was preventing visitors from catching and spreading infections.
- We were assured that the provider was meeting shielding and social distancing rules.
- We were assured that the provider was admitting people safely to the service.
- We were assured that the provider was accessing testing for people using the service and staff.

We have also signposted the provider to resources to develop their approach.
