Summary of findings

Overall summary

Park View is a care home providing personal care to older people, people living with dementia and people with a physical disability. The service accommodates up to 23 people in one adapted building. At the time of the inspection 20 people were using the service.

We found the following examples of good practice.

There was prominent signage and instructions to explain what everyone should do to ensure safety regarding infection control.

Hand sanitisers and PPE were situated throughout the building. Staff were observed wearing appropriate PPE.

All visitors were screened for symptoms on arrival. Alternative forms of maintaining social contact were used for family and friends when they chose not to visit, for example, keeping in touch using video calls.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to care homes with outbreaks of COVID-19, we are conducting reviews to ensure that the Infection Prevention and Control (IPC) practice is safe and that services are compliant with IPC measures. This was a targeted inspection looking at the IPC practices the provider has in place. We also asked the provider about any staffing pressures the service was experiencing and whether this was having an impact on the service.

This inspection took place on 20 January 2022 and was announced. We gave the service 24 hours' notice of the inspection.
