Summary of findings

Overall summary

Northfield Manor is a residential care home providing personal care and accommodation for up to 39 older aged. At the time of our inspection there were 29 living at the service. People have their own rooms with access to a range of communal areas. The building is a three-storey facility and was dementia friendly with accessible gardens.

We found the following examples of good practice.

All staff and essential visitors had to wear appropriate personal protective equipment (PPE), complete NHS Track and Trace information and had their temperature checked prior to entering the home.

Staff supported people's social and emotional wellbeing. The provider and staff kept family members up to date about the latest government guidance. Relatives were kept informed about people's health using telephone calls, letters and video calls.

The registered manager explained the quality systems they had in place to check the service was providing safe care. There was a communication system in place to ensure staff received consistent updates in relation to infection control policy and practice.

All staff had undertaken training in infection prevention and control. This included putting on and taking off PPE, hand hygiene and other Covid-19 related training. Additional competency checks regarding safe use of PPE was also carried out by the registered manager.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to the coronavirus pandemic we are looking at the preparedness of care homes in relation to infection prevention and control. This was a targeted inspection looking at the infection control and prevention measures the provider has in place.

This inspection took place on 27 January 2021 and was announced.
