Summary of findings

Overall summary

The Bungalow care Home is care home which provides nursing and personal care for up to 28 people. At the time of inspection there were 24 people living in the service.

We found the following examples of good practice.

- A recent outbreak of COVID- 19 at the service had been managed well and the plans in place to support people had been utilised safely. There were measures in place to reduce staff movement around the service. Staff who tested positive or had displayed symptoms of COVID- 19 had shielded in line with the government guidance and were symptom free before returning to work.
- Information and guidance on COVID- 19 restrictions and infection control measures in place was available and visible for staff, people and visitors. Visitors were required to have their temperature taken and wear Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) before entering the service following the provider's infection prevention and control procedures.
- The registered manager had a clear communication programme in place for people, staff and relatives to keep them updated with issues related to COVID- 19.
- There were sufficient PPE supplies in place to ensure safe infection prevention and control practices were undertaken. Infection control policies had been amended to reflect current national guidance.
- There was an enhanced cleaning programme in place and the service was visibly clean and well maintained.
- The registered manager had ensured staff were skilled in infection prevention and control (IPC). This included providing them with information and observation of practice on how to put on and remove PPE.
- There was a testing programme in place for staff and people living in the service. This was to ensure if any staff or people who had contracted COVID- 19 were identified in a timely way.
- Staff promoted and practised safe social distancing throughout the home as far as is reasonably practical. Clear systems were in place to shield and isolate people should outbreaks occur.
- People were supported to keep in touch with their relatives via telephone calls or video links. Since the outbreak there had been no visiting to the service. However the registered manager and provider were regularly reviewing this to ensure they supported people and relatives well-being and continue to keep people safe.
- People admitted to the service were supported in line with government guidance on managing new admissions during the COVID- 19 pandemic.
