Summary of findings

Overall summary

Dryad Spinney is a 'care home'. Dryad Spinney provide accommodation and personal care and support for up to five adults who have learning disabilities or autistic spectrum disorder. There were four people living in the home at the time of our inspection.

We found the following examples of good practice.

The provider supported people to maintain frequent contact with their loved ones and friends. They were supported to utilise alternative means of contact such as video calling. Relatives were kept updated and informed as guidance changed and the provider adapted quickly their procedures as guidance changed.

The provider supported people to understand the guidance and changes using their preferred communication methods. For example, Social Stories, Easy Read documentation and Makaton.

The provider adapted the environment to ensure people's wellbeing was supported during the pandemic and came up with various activities for people. For example, purchased additional televisions for shared spaces to promote social distancing, sensory play, Makaton singing and signing, gardening and physical exercise.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to the COVID-19 pandemic we are looking at how services manage infection control and visiting arrangements. This was a targeted inspection looking at the infection prevention and control measures the provider had in place. We also asked the provider about any staffing pressures the service was experiencing and whether this was having an impact on the service.

This inspection took place on 28 March 2022 and was unannounced.
