Summary of findings

Overall summary

West Farm Care Centre is a residential care home providing personal care and accommodation for up to 50 older people, some of whom were living with a dementia. At the time of the inspection there were 33 people using the service.

We found the following examples of good practice.

- The service had access to regular testing for staff and people using the service. Staff knew what to do should they suspect someone had Covid to reduce the risk of spreading the infection.
- The home was clean and odour free. Extra housekeeping staff had been employed to ensure additional cleaning was completed during the pandemic.
- Staff had received appropriate training in infection prevention control. Staff were observed wearing the required PPE and were able to explain the process of correctly putting on and taking off their PPE.
- Additional staffing was available to support people who were unwell to maintain their health. One to one activities were being provided to reduce the risk of social isolation. People were supported to maintain contact with their loved ones.
- Quality assurance audits were completed to ensure safe infection control practices were being followed and to identify any improvements. Staff spoke positively about the support they had received from the registered manager and provider during the pandemic.

Further information is in the detailed findings below.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to care homes with outbreaks of coronavirus, we are conducting reviews to ensure that the Infection Prevention and Control practice was safe and the service was compliant with IPC measures. This was a targeted inspection looking at the IPC practices the provider has in place.

This inspection took place on 27 November 2020 and was announced.
