Summary of findings

Overall summary

Roselawn House is a care home for people living with learning disabilities and autistic spectrum needs. It can accommodate a maximum of eight people. At the time of our inspection seven people were living there.

We found the following examples of good practice.

The provider had an infection prevention and control policy (IPC) in place and staff had received IPC training, including how to put on and take off personal protective equipment safely and hand washing.

The visiting arrangements for the service were in line with government guidance. People were also able to keep in touch with family and friends using video and telephone calls.

The home was clean, tidy and hygienic and cleaning and IPC procedures were carried out regularly and in line with best practice.

People and staff were tested for COVID-19 in line with government guidance and all staff had been vaccinated. Staff checked the vaccination status of professionals visiting the home.

The provider kept people and their families informed about COVID-19, government guidance and the arrangements for the home. Staff supported people in the home and in the community to reduce the risk of COVID-19 infection.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to the COVID-19 pandemic we are looking at how services manage infection control and visiting arrangements. This was a targeted inspection looking at the infection prevention and control measures the provider had in place. We also asked the provider about any staffing pressures the service was experiencing and whether this was having an impact on the service.

This inspection took place on 25 February 2022 and was announced. We gave the service 48 hours' notice of the inspection.

Our findings

Staffing

- The provider told us they had measures in place to mitigate the risks associated with COVID-19 related staff pressures

How well are people protected by the prevention and control of infection?

- We were assured that the provider was preventing visitors from catching and spreading infections.
- We were assured that the provider was meeting shielding and social distancing rules.
- We were assured that the provider was admitting people safely to the service.
- We were assured that the provider was using PPE effectively and safely.
- We were assured that the provider was accessing testing for people using the service and staff.
- We were assured that the provider was promoting safety through the layout and hygiene practices of the premises.
- We were assured that the provider was making sure infection outbreaks can be effectively prevented or managed.
- We were assured that the provider's infection prevention and control policy was up to date.

Visiting in care homes

- The visiting arrangements for the service were in line with government guidance. This reduced the risk to people from COVID-19 infection.

From 11 November 2021 registered persons must make sure all care home workers and other professionals visiting the service are fully vaccinated against COVID-19, unless they have an exemption or there is an emergency.

- The Government has announced its intention to change the legal requirement for vaccination in care homes, but the service was meeting the current requirement to ensure non-exempt staff and visiting professionals were vaccinated against COVID-19.
