Summary of findings

Overall summary

Allendale Residential Home Limited is a residential care home that provides accommodation and personal care to up to 24 older adults, some of whom are living with dementia. At the time of the inspection there were 22 people living at the home.

We found the following examples of good practice.

The provider followed the most up to date guidance in relation to infection prevention control. Policies and procedures were reviewed and updated as guidance changed.

The provider had arrangements in place to ensure anyone moving into the home received a negative COVID-19 test.

Regular testing for COVID-19 was in place for staff and people living at the home.

Relatives were supported to visit their relation and guided by the registered manager for testing, hand hygiene and the use of personal protective equipment (PPE).

Staff had received training in the management of infection control and the use of PPE.

The provider had effective plans in place in the event of an outbreak to allow people to be supported safely.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to the COVID-19 pandemic we are looking at the preparedness of care homes in relation to infection prevention and control. This was a targeted inspection looking at the infection control and prevention measures the provider has in place.

This inspection took place on 13 May 2021 and was announced.
