Summary of findings

Overall summary

About the service

Clarkson House Residential Care Home is a residential care home providing accommodation and personal care for up to 28 people aged 65 and over. At the time of the inspection there were 14 people using the service.

We found the following examples of good practice.

Staff had received training in handwashing, Infection Prevention and Control (IPC) and use of personal protective equipment (PPE). National guidance was followed on the use of personal PPE and regular Covid 19 testing was taking place. There were supplies of PPE readily available to staff and visitors.

There were procedures and risk assessments to manage and minimise the risks Covid 19 presented to people who used the service, staff and visitors. The systems in place allowed people to be admitted to the home safely.

National restrictions on visiting were in place at the time of the inspection and alternative measures such as video calls were being used.

The home was clean and uncluttered. Communal areas had been reorganised to promote social distancing.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to care homes with outbreaks of coronavirus, we are conducting reviews to ensure that the Infection Prevention and Control practice was safe and the service was compliant with IPC measures. This was a targeted inspection looking at the IPC practices the provider has in place.

This inspection took place on 3 February 2021 and was announced.
