Summary of findings

Overall summary

Park Lodge is a care home that provides accommodation and personal care for up to eight people who have learning disabilities or autistic spectrum conditions. At the time of the inspection there were seven people living in the home.

We found the following examples of good practice.

- Systems were in place to help prevent people, staff and visitors from catching or spreading infection. Every staff member and visitor had their temperature taken at the door and were given appropriate personal protective equipment (PPE) to wear. Every visitor had to have a lateral flow test, complete a health declaration and use hand sanitiser upon entering the home.
- The environment was clean. Additional cleaning was taking place around the home, including of frequently touched surfaces.
- There was sufficient PPE such as masks, aprons, gloves and visors. The registered manager and deputy manager carried out weekly stock checks to ensure the home always had maximum levels of PPE.
- Staff had undertaken training in Infection prevention and control (IPC) as well as putting on and taking off PPE. There was an Infection control champion in place who carried out IPC audits and observed staff to ensure they were competent in IPC practices.
- Staff supported people's social and emotional wellbeing. People were supported to keep in touch with their family members via video or telephone calls as well as socially distanced garden visits.
- People and staff were taking part in the COVID-19 regular testing programme.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to the coronavirus pandemic we are looking at the preparedness of care homes in relation to infection prevention and control. This was a targeted inspection looking at the infection control and prevention measures the provider has in place.

This inspection took place on 4 March 2021 and was announced.
