Summary of findings

Overall summary

Overall Summary

Mariners Park Care Home is a home providing accommodation and personal care for up to 32 people including people living with dementia. At the time of our inspection, there were 29 people living at the service.

We found the following examples of good practice.

People living in the home and their relatives were supported to maintain contact. There was visiting arrangements in place so relatives could see their loved ones regularly reducing the risk of infection to visitors and people living at the home.

The registered manager was aware of their responsibilities and managed the COVID-19 outbreak with support from relevant partner agencies.

The registered manager had identified, assessed and mitigated COVID-19 related risks to people, staff and visitors.

There was a programme of regular COVID-19 testing for both people living in the home, staff, essential carers and visitors to the home. Screening procedures included temperature checks and a negative lateral flow test.

Regular infection control audits were completed and the provider and manager had oversight of infection prevention and control processes.

Staff used personal protective equipment (PPE) and followed guidance and practices. There was abundant PPE available to staff.

Background to this inspection

Background

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to the COVID-19 pandemic we are looking at how services manage infection control and visiting arrangements. This was a targeted inspection looking at the infection prevention and control measures the provider had in place. We also asked the provider about any staffing pressures the service was experiencing and whether this was having an impact on the service.

This inspection took place on 12 May 2022 and was announced. We gave the service 24 hours notice of the inspection.
