Summary of findings

Overall summary

Manor Park Care Home is a care home which provides accommodation and personal care and support for 22 younger adults who are living with a mental illness. There were 15 people using the service at the time of the inspection.

We found the following examples of good practice.

The provider had erected a summer house in the grounds of the service to enable visitors to meet their relatives in private. Visitors entered the building by a separate entrance and completed the required checks before meeting their relatives. A plastic screen was in place in the summer house, which helped maintain social distancing, and prevented relatives' friends and other visitors from spreading infection.

Staff had arranged for people to speak to their relatives and friends by telephone and video calls.

The provider had identified bedrooms which could be used for isolating people displaying covid-19 symptoms. People newly admitted to the service had to have a negative covid-19 test, and were also tested on arrival and isolated to prevent the risk of spreading infection.

The provider had ensured staff had received a recommended level of IPC training. Additional training, support and guidance had been provided by the registered manager. The manager completes regular checks to ensure that staff complied with the current guidance on the wearing of personal protective equipment.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to the coronavirus pandemic we are looking at the preparedness of care homes in relation to infection prevention and control. This was a targeted inspection looking at the infection control and prevention measures the provider has in place.

This inspection took place on 25 February 2021 and was announced.
