Summary of findings

Overall summary

Woodlands is a residential care home that provides accommodation and personal care for up to 6 people who are living with mental health conditions. There were 5 people living at Woodlands at the time of the inspection.

We found the following examples of good practice:

Woodlands ensured current government guidelines in relation to COVID-19 were being followed by staff and visitors to reduce the risk of infection to people living at the home. This included comprehensive checks for visitors on arrival.

Woodlands had set up a designated room for residents to meet visitors, the room was close to front door so visitors did not have to fully enter the home.

Woodlands engaged with their residents to ensure they understood the need to comply with measures to minimise the risk of infection to themselves and others. This included regular testing, the use of personal protective equipment and vaccination.

Woodlands told us that they had good links with their local GP practice who had provided COVID-19 vaccinations to residents at the home.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to the COVID-19 pandemic we are looking at how services manage infection control and visiting arrangements. This was a targeted inspection looking at the infection prevention and control measures the provider had in place. We also asked the provider about any staffing pressures the service was experiencing and whether this was having an impact on the service.

This inspection took place on 18 January 2022 and was announced. We gave the service 24 hours' notice of the inspection.
