Summary of findings

Overall summary

Woodside Grange Care Home is a residential care home providing personal and nursing care for up to 121 people. The home supported people with varied needs in six areas, spread across three floors in a purpose-built building. This included older people, people living with a dementia and people with a learning disability or autism. Eighty-two people were using the service when we inspected.

We found the following examples of good practice.

- Systems were in place to prevent visitors from catching and spreading infections, including screening visitors before they entered the building.
- Staff had undertaken training in infection prevention and control. Staff were seen wearing appropriate personal protective equipment (PPE).
- The home supported people and staff with social distancing.
- The home carefully considered and supported the wellbeing of people and staff. Staff were able to access a number of wellbeing resources.
- Systems were in place to admit people safely into the home.
- People and staff were regularly taking part in the coronavirus testing programme.

Further information is in the detailed findings below.

The five questions we ask about services and what we found

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to care homes with outbreaks of coronavirus, we are conducting reviews to ensure that the Infection Prevention and Control practice was safe and the service was compliant with IPC measures. This was a targeted inspection looking at the IPC practices the provider has in place.

This inspection took place on 26 November 2020 and was announced.
