Summary of findings

Overall summary

Kacee Lodge is a residential care home registered to provide accommodation with personal care for up to seven people with learning disabilities, and who may also have an autistic spectrum disorder. The service does not provide nursing care. At the time of the inspection five people were living at the service.

Kacee Lodge is a domestic style single storey detached house in keeping with the other houses in the area.

We found the following examples of good practice.

The service was following correct infection prevention and control guidance and policy to protect people from infection and prevent the spread of infection.

Management were making sure infection outbreaks can be effectively managed. The service has a new manager. They attended daily video meetings with senior managers to discuss impact and management of Covid-19 pandemic across the providers services and to learn from each other. There were also additional meetings at regional level twice a week.

The manager was following the government's guidance on whole home testing for people and staff. This included weekly testing and rapid testing for staff and essential visitors.

All people using the service have received their first Covid-19 vaccination and staff were in the process of receiving theirs.

There was clear signage and guidance in the service to help prompt and remind staff on how to work safely and minimise the risk of spreading infection. Staff had received training in infection control, Covid-19 and personal protective equipment (PPE). They were using PPE properly and there was a good supply of PPE and hand sanitiser. Cleaning schedules had increased with regular hard surface and high touch cleaning carried out throughout the day.

Alternative forms of maintaining social contact were used for relatives. For example, using video calls, weekly newsletters to family members, using a phone to communicate with and garden visits socially distanced in warmer weather.
