Summary of findings

Overall summary

Amphion View is a residential care home which provides accommodation and personal care for up to 35 people. On the day of the inspection 30 people lived at the home.

We found the following examples of good practice.

All visitors were screened for symptoms of infection before being allowed to enter the home. The home had facilities for people to wash their hands or sanitize on entering and leaving the home. Information was easily accessible on arrival to ensure visitors followed guidance.

The home had a visiting 'pod' to help facilitate visits safely. There was a booking system in place for visits. Communal areas were used creatively to help with infection prevention and control.

The provider understood and complied with the vaccination requirements for visitors to the service.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to care homes with outbreaks of COVID-19, we are conducting reviews to ensure that the Infection Prevention and Control (IPC) practice is safe and that services are compliant with IPC measures. This was a targeted inspection looking at the IPC practices the provider has in place. We also asked the provider about any staffing pressures the service was experiencing and whether this was having an impact on the service.

This inspection took place on 26 January 2022 and was announced. We gave the service 48 hours' notice of the inspection.
