Summary of findings

Overall summary

Capel Grange Residential Home is a care home which is registered to provide a service for up to 38 older people who require assistance with personal care. At the time of the inspection 25 people were living at the home. People living at the home had a variety of care and support needs, such as dementia and physical disabilities. The service is provided within an adapted residence over two floors.

We found the following examples of good practice.

People were well supported by staff to have telephone and internet contact with their family and friends. The manager had purchased speaker equipment to improve the sound of video calls. The staff facilitated in person visits in a manner which minimised the risk of infection spread, including garden visits, and visits using a specially adapted screened room through an external door on the ground floor of the home.

The registered manager had plans in place to isolate people with COVID-19 to minimise transmission. The service had good supplies of personal protective equipment that were readily available at stations throughout the service.

Visitors were asked health screening questions regarding COVID-19, received COVID-19 lateral flow tests and were expected to sanitise their hands when they arrived. Staff recorded visits on a visitor board to facilitate these in a timely and fair way.

Staff had received training on how to keep people safe during the COVID-19 pandemic and staff and residents were regularly tested for COVID-19. The building was clean and free from clutter.

Staff ensured people's welfare had been maintained and they had sufficient stimulation, with activities facilitated by staff. Staff were seen to support people to participate in activities and people seemed comfortable, relaxed and happy when interacting with staff.
