Summary of findings

Overall summary

Blenheim Court is a care home providing personal and nursing care up to 38 older people in one adapted building.

We found the following examples of good practice.

As a result of the Coronavirus pandemic additional actions had been taken to further reduce the risk of the spread of infections. Staff were allocated to work in only one of the two units. New procedures had been implemented to restrict access to shared work spaces, such as the kitchen or laundry room.

The premises were clean and well maintained. Cleaning schedules had expanded to address more at-risk areas of the building. For example, high contact areas such as door handles and light switches were regularly cleaned throughout the day. All staff had received recent training in infection control and prevention and their competency in this was regularly checked by managers.

Visits were restricted at the time of this inspection. Relatives and friends were kept informed of any visiting restrictions and the guidelines they were expected to follow.

We were assured that this service met good infection prevention and control guidelines as a designated care setting.

Further information is in the detailed findings below.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

This was a targeted inspection looking at the infection control and prevention measures the provider has in place. As part of CQC's response to the coronavirus pandemic we are conducting a review of infection control and prevention measures in care homes.

The service had been identified for use by the Local Authority as a designated care setting in response to the Winter Plan for people discharged from hospital with a positive Covid-19 status. This inspection was to ensure that the service was compliant with infection control and prevention measures.

This inspection took place on 20 November 2020 and was announced.
