Summary of findings

Overall summary

Chase Park Neuro Centre is a residential care home providing personal and nursing care to 60 people aged from 18 and over. At the time of the inspection, 28 people were living at the service, some of whom were living with a neurological condition.

We found the following examples of good practice.

- The registered manager had identified, assessed and mitigated all COVID-19 related risks to people, staff and visitors.
- The registered manager had an effective monitoring system in place to check that the service was following government guidance and the provider's own policies.
- Staff were confident and knowledgeable about government guidance and what visitors were required to do prior to entering the service. Professional visitors and relatives were tested for COVID-19 at the service or provided a negative lateral flow test result from that day. Visiting professionals and staff provided evidence of their vaccination status to the registered manager before entering the service.
- Staff and people received regular testing for COVID-19 and emergency care givers were included in this testing programme. Visitors were supported to carry out a lateral flow test prior to visiting their relative.
- People were encouraged and supported to leave the service to visit relatives or access the local community. Relatives were able to visit their family members either in their rooms or communal lounge areas.
- Staff wore appropriate PPE and had access to this throughout the home. Staff had received additional training during the pandemic about correct PPE usage and infection prevention and control from the provider. The registered manager had appointed two nurses to be infection prevention and control (IPC) champions at the home who attended regular forums and training sessions, and who had shared their knowledge with all staff.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to the COVID-19 pandemic we are looking at how services manage infection control and visiting arrangements. This was a targeted inspection looking at the infection prevention and control measures the provider had in place. We also asked the provider about any staffing pressures the service was experiencing and whether this was having an impact on the service.

This inspection took place on 7 February 2022 and was unannounced.
