Summary of findings

Overall summary

Hepdene House is a residential care home for up to eight people living with physical and /or learning disabilities. There were eight people living in the home when we inspected.

We found the following examples of good practice.

The home was clean and well ventilated. There was a large enclosed garden which people could access.

People and staff were tested regularly and had been offered the first COVID-19 vaccination.

There were ample supplies of PPE which we observed staff wearing appropriately. Staff had completed infection prevention and control training including the correct use of PPE.

The provider had effective systems in place to ensure staff were kept informed of the latest government guidance and infection prevention and control policies and procedures were updated accordingly.

People were supported with activities in house and to go out safely in the community. Staff supported people to keep in touch with family and friends and the provider was making arrangements to introduce internal visits in accordance with government guidance.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to the coronavirus pandemic we are looking at the preparedness of care homes in relation to infection prevention and control. This was a targeted inspection looking at the infection control and prevention measures the provider has in place.

This inspection took place on 3 March 2021 and was announced.
