Summary of findings

Overall summary

Bridge Court Bungalow is a residential care home for up to six young adults living with a learning disability and / or autism. The service is an adapted bungalow which supports people on one level. At the time of inspection six people were living at the service.

We found the following examples of good practice.

- The systems in place to oversee and manage the risks of cross infection were robust. Quality assurance measures and training supported improvement.
- Staff worked well together to meet people's needs. They demonstrated flexibility to cover shifts to ensure the service was safely staffed.
- Good cleaning procedures were in place. People and staff participated in regular testing and all had received their Covid-19 vaccinations.
- The home had good stocks of PPE. Staff were observed donning and doffing PPE safely.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to care homes with outbreaks of COVID-19, we are conducting reviews to ensure that the Infection Prevention and Control (IPC) practice is safe and that services are compliant with IPC measures. This was a targeted inspection looking at the IPC practices the provider has in place. We also asked the provider about any staffing pressures the service was experiencing and whether this was having an impact on the service.

This inspection took place on 20 January 2022 and was unannounced.
