Summary of findings

Overall summary

Holly Court is 15-bedded home for people with learning disabilities and other complex health needs. The home is a purpose-built building and split into three separate 'wings'. All rooms have en-suite facilities, with a communal lounge, dining room and kitchen. At the time of the inspection eight people were in receipt of care from the service.

We found the following examples of good practice.

There were systems and processes in place, in line with guidance, to ensure visitors to the home did not introduce and spread Covid-19.

Staff followed government guidance in relation to personal protective equipment (PPE). All staff were wearing face masks. The home had sufficient supplies of PPE.

A documented ongoing testing regime was in place for visitors, staff and people living in the home. Appropriate processes were in place should anyone display any symptoms of Covid-19.

We observed the home to be clean and well maintained. All areas of the home were subject to regular and enhanced cleaning regimes.

Staff supported people's social and emotional wellbeing. Alternative forms of maintaining social contact were in place including regular video calls.

The home had a visiting plan in place in line with current guidance.

All staff had undertaken training in infection prevention and control (IPC) and the donning and doffing of PPE.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of the Care Quality Commission's (CQC's) response to the coronavirus pandemic we are looking at the preparedness of care homes in relation to infection prevention and control. This was a targeted inspection looking at the infection control and prevention measures the provider has in place.

This inspection took place on 18 March 2021 and was announced.
