Summary of findings

Overall summary

Hill House accommodates up to up to 37 older people some of who are living with dementia. There were 26 people living at the service during this inspection.

We found the following examples of good practice.

Only essential visits were being facilitated at the time of our inspection such as for end of life care. All visitors to the service had their temperature checked, undertook a COVID-19 test, completed a health questionnaire and were provided with personal protective equipment (PPE).

The service had been providing 'screened' visits for people and their families within a designated room. Visits were by appointment only, with times allocated to avoid potential infection transmission with other visitors and to allow for the visiting area to be thoroughly cleaned between visits.

PPE was placed throughout the service, with ample supplies available. Staff were seen to be maintaining social distance and adhering to the PPE guidance and protective measures in place.

The service was clean and hygienic. Robust cleaning schedules were in place. People's rooms and areas frequently touched by people and staff such as door handles were cleaned regularly and deep cleaning took place weekly. This helped reduce the risk of infections and cross contamination.

The provider had developed policies and procedures in response to the COVID-19 pandemic. Risks to people and staff in relation to their health, safety and wellbeing had been thoroughly assessed.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to the coronavirus pandemic we are looking at the preparedness of care homes in relation to infection prevention and control. This was a targeted inspection looking at the infection control and prevention measures the provider has in place.

This unannounced inspection took place on 22 February 2021.
